

Notification of Public Meetings on Inclusionary Housing Ordinance

In December 2008, the San José City Council directed Housing Department staff to return to the Council with a draft citywide inclusionary housing ordinance that incorporated the City Council's policy recommendations. At the public meetings listed below, the Housing Department will present the draft Citywide Inclusionary Ordinance. It is anticipated that the Department will present the final inclusionary housing ordinance as well as feedback and comments from these meetings, to the City Council in late August.

What is inclusionary housing? Inclusionary housing requires that all new residential developments have a certain number of homes and apartments available to lower and moderate income individuals and families.
